Geological Society of Norway's Winter Conference 2017

The geological conference “Vinterkonferansen” is an important arena for knowledge sharing, networking, inspiration and learning. It is one of the largest conferences in the geoscience community in Norway, where geoscientists from various industries, academia, communities and research centres meet.

Sponsorship – Technical Sessions

The size and diversity of the conference create an excellent marketing opportunity within the geoscience community. One of the sponsorship opportunities are related to Technical sessions, where each company can choose to sponsor one or more sessions. Your sponsorship will be acknowledged by an on-site roll-up display in the technical session(s), the company's logo in the conference program, the abstract volume and on the website.

Sponsorship: 20.000 NOK, per session.

An extra 20.000 NOK can be dedicated to the geoscience teachers, to reduce cost for their attendance, so more teachers can attend (see description below).

The Winterconference 2017 include 10 sessions:

- Geoscience research and value creation
- Petroleum geoscience
- Mineral and resource geology
- Geoscience communication & the Future of Geoscience
 - This session includes the Geoscience Teachers. We recognize the importance and need for geoscientists today and in the future. The teachers are essential in the knowledge transfer and in encouraging the next generation geoscientists.
